How do I find full-text articles?

1. Go to the Regional Library website:
   www.wohkn.org/wh
2. Click on the Articles/Journals tab at the top of the page
3. Click on Full-Text Finder:
   !Full-Text Finder
4. Search for the journal name:
   !New England Journal of Medicine
5. View search results:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1. New England Journal of Medicine</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Search within Publication</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Full Text Access
  - Free Medical Journals 01/01/1990 - present (Full Text Delay: 6 months)
  - Massachusetts Medical Society 01/01/1812 - present
  - Nursing & Allied Health Database 01/03/1980 - present (Full Text Delay: 3 months)

6. Click the link containing the needed year/volume.
   Note: Some journals will be available through multiple platforms.

7. Each platform is different. Use a search bar to search for a specific title or subject area or browse the entire journal, looking through dates, volumes and issues to find the articles you need.

What do I do if I do not find the journal or article that I need?

Request an interlibrary loan. The librarian can request articles from other libraries. Fill out the online form or email the librarian the citation.
